DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented.

Two claims are numbered 83. One of these claims must be renumbered 84.

Misnumbered claim 84 must be renumbered 85.

Misnumbered claims 89-91 must be renumbered 88-90.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 77, 78, 82, 83 and 87 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 5,515,167 to Ledger et al.

Ledger et al. teaches method of manufacturing a vacuum chuck, said method comprising: forming a plurality of through holes (26) extending between a first surface and a second surface positioned opposite to each other, wherein said first surface and said second surface are disposed on a chuck body; patterning said first surface to produce a plurality of recesses (28), wherein a through hole of said plurality of through holes lies within said recess; and etching said first surface (Col. 3, Lines 61-65) to produce a desired formation upon said chuck body.

Regarding Claims 78, 82, 83 and 87, Ledger et al. teaches that the chuck body comprises an optical flat glass, wherein said second surface of said optical flat glass is substantially flat. See (Col. 3, Lines 43-55)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 77-91 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent 5,515,167 to Ledger et al. in view of U.S. Patent 5,324,012 to Aoyama et al.

As applied above, Ledger et al. teaches the method of the invention substantially as claimed, but does not teach the desired formation comprises a plurality of pins or a plurality of concentric annular recesses disposed on the first surface.

Aoyama teaches that it is conventional in the art of fabricating vacuum chucks to form a surface formation comprising a plurality of pins or a plurality of concentric annular recesses disposed on the first surface. (See Figures 1 and 3, for example)

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to provide the vacuum chuck of Ledger with a surface comprising a plurality of pins or a plurality of concentric annular recesses disposed on the first surface in order to minimize the possibility of dust particles changing the substrate curvature in the well-known manner.
